Mrs. Norris was one of the best women of this County, being at the time of her death over seventy years of age. A difficulty occurred between Joe Brooks and Frank Hankins, two colored men, on last Friday night at a corner along the plantation of Mr. James B. Pruitt, who resides some 14 miles South of Anderson, resulting in the death of the latter. The latter. They were under the influence of whiskey, and had some quarrel about the banks in which induced Brooks to stab Hankins in the back, without realizing the effects of which he died in about five minutes. Brooks left immediately upon doing the deed, and went to his father's house, about two miles distant, without revealing that he had killed his antagonist. He returned on the following morning to Mr. Pruitt's and the opinion of the jury, to Robinson, Esq. of the Trinity Hotel, whom he delivered himself. He was immediately committed to jail, where he now resides in the hope of securing a pardon. Brooks claims that the act was committed in self defense.

In Memoriam.

Hon. Richard F. Simpson was born in Laurens on the 22nd of October, March 1798, and died at his home, near Pendleton, on the 23rd of October, 1882, being in the 85th year of his age.

From childhood the advantage of good scholastic training, and at the age of sixteen entered the South Carolina College, from which, two years afterwards, he received a diploma. From the time of the study of the law, he was admitted to the bar, and for some years practiced his profession at Laurens, until his father's death, he abandoned his profession for the more congenial employment of manufacturing and planting.

At an early age he was elected State Senator from his native County, and on the opening of the Florida war volunteered as captain of cavalry. Returning home, he married Miss Margaret Taliaferro, of Pendleton, and removed to that place, where he devoted his time and energies to the development of that fine estate.

In 1844 he was elected a handsome majority over two competitors to a seat in the Congress of the United States. For the second and third term he was re-elected, and during the fourth term, in consequence of severe injuries received by being thrown from a buggy, and from which he remained confined to his bed, he resigned his office. In politics a staunch Democrat, and was a member from Anderson County of the memorable convention which closed his political life.

In 1842 he made a profession of religion and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, and for the remainder of his life he remained in the spirit and the mind of his Master. He was a good man, full of faith and demonstrated by him, an honest heart, a cheerful light, and walking therein, he "fell on sleep," in the assurance of an eternal waking in that blessed land, where shall be no light of truth. Conscious of his condition, and with the iron hand of death already upon his forehead, he said, "I am ready to go, my dear friends, I leave you to God." Without a struggle or pain, he said, "I am ready to go, my dear friends, I leave you to God." The loving husband, the beloved neighbor, the valued friend and the self sacrificing Christian.

At host of friends and relatives accompanied his remains to their resting place in the secluded grave yard, and a neighboring wood was crowded with those who bore testimony to his worth and its loss.

"Soldier of Christ, well done." S. B. J.

of the News and Courier is requested to copy.

It has been clearly established that Oatarrh is a disease that therefore, any remedy that is a perfect blood purifier will cure this disease. S. S. S. is the remedy, being purely vegetable, and has been tested in thousands of the worst cases in a few weeks. Price, $1.00 and $1.75 per bottle.

KRAUS, appears to have become satisfied with the prohibition experiment after a brief trial.
 MADEIRA, who was present, was made on the question on Tuesday. Government, was then, the leader of the move.
 Republican politicians who originally led the party into the movement are said to be thoroughly frightened at its failure, and they will probably abandon the party only for the sake of keeping their party in the ascendant.

Scene 1st. Act XVII. Time, 6 o'clock a. m.

"Who can appreciate the anxiety, the utter helplessness of his condition, and the want of Par Medicine, as much as a Father when his holy offspring, and the first one, and a boy at that--three o'clock in the morning, and Winter-time at the North. Think of it!"

The above position depicts the horrible dilemma.

"I will go at once to ORR & SLOAN'S Drug Store, ring their Night Bell, and get some reliable Medicine to quiet this little one, then I can sleep the balance of the night, instead of playing Circum in my reposing robes."
